Choir Back After Its Rough Southern Trip

By GENE DENT

There may have been more enjoyable A Cappella concert tours, but the one that ended early Tuesday morning left an indelible mark on the 61 persons who made the trip.

Hopes of southern sunbathers were quickly snowed under when the group left the campus on Feb. 1. By the time they reached Dayton most were aware of the fact that they were in the middle of one of the winter's worst storms.

After singing to a small audience, Dr. James Paul Kennedy decided that an early start the next morning was imperative. Four cars and the Falcon bus left Dayton at approximately the same time. It was the last time for three days that members of the group saw each other.

The Falcon bus broke down three times during the trip to Cincinnati and was finally abandoned. Dr. Kennedy and 11 people hitch-hiked into the Union Terminal at Cincinnati, only to learn that the train to Nashville, Tenn., was cancelled. After negotiating with train officials, Dr. Kennedy managed to get the choir onto a special coach.

The "special coach" turned out to be one loaded with service men. Jammed into a single car, choir members learned about war-time traveling conditions—and a little more besides. The train broke down repeatedly, the heating system went out of order, and the weather was so cold that water froze in the basins.

Having no dining or sleeping facilities members were forced to go with very little food or sleep for two days.

By the time they reached Montgomery, Ala., they were 20 hours behind schedule and two concerts at Peabody Institute, Tenn., and Tuskegee, Ala., were cancelled. After leaving the train the choir loaded onto a new Greyhound bus, traveled one half hour before it broke down, transferred to another, and continued to Florida.

The four cars fared better, getting through the treacherous roadways approximately on time. The cars arrived at Nashville, Tenn., only to discover both concert and hotel reservations had been cancelled.

Nashville was in a critical condition, electric power in half the city was out and the temperature hovering at 14 below kept heating arrangements at a minimum. However, Peabody Institute and private citizens volunteered and provided housing.

It was the same story in Tuskegee, the motor travelers found no choir, but received word that they

Air Force Unit Considering BG

Air Force officials are considering placing a unit of Air Force personnel here at Bowling Green for office training. Dr. Prout announced yesterday.

Officers of the Air Force visited the University campus Wednesday in an inspection tour of the University's accommodations and facilities for living on campus.

No decision has been reached as yet, but it is certain to come soon, since the Air Force wants to start its program by the first of next month. If the decision is made to place a unit here, it would mean that there would eventually be from 350 to 400 Air Force personnel on campus.

The object of placing such a unit here would be to train the men in typing, shorthand, and other such clerical work. In the event the Air Force does come on campus, the University will have to hire additional faculty members.

Not all the men would come at once. They would come in groups of 25 each week, each group to receive a 12-week training period. Therefore in a few weeks the large group would be on campus, but there would be a constant change of personnel.

Bookstore Opens To Pay Students

The Alpha Phi Omega Bookstore, located in the Rec Hall, will open Wednesday, Feb. 21, for four days. All persons who brought books in to be sold should bring their receipts to the store at that time and collect their money.

Open hours will be 9-12 and 1-4 on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday and 9-12 on Saturday.

The store announced that all persons who wish to claim unsold books must do so on the designated days. They do not wish to hold any over until next semester.

Pianists Return Sunday

MORLEY AND GEARHART

Students To Occupy Front Rows For Duo-Piano Show

Possibly thinking that history will repeat itself, the University Artist Series Committee has scheduled Morley and Gearhart, American duo-pianists, for a performance in the Main Aud. Sunday evening at 8:15.

Virginia Morley and Livingston Gearhart, Mr. and Mrs. in private life, last appeared at Bowling Green in July, 1948, when their audience gave them four encores.

Today is the last day that student tickets may be purchased at the booth in front of the Main Aud. General admission tickets for students are five cents with Ac card, while reserved tickets for students are 60 cents.

Because of students' dissatisfaction with the seating arrangement for the Eva Le Gallienne performance, a new plan has been drawn up by the Artists Series Committee, said Bob Conschaffer, student representative to the committee.

The first eight rows in the Main Aud. will be set aside as non-reserved seats for students holding 5-cent tickets. The center section will be reserved for faculty, season, and student reserved seat ticket holders, and the back rows will again be available to those students with 5-cent tickets. A few seats in the balcony will also be held for reserved seat ticket holders.

The duo-pianists will present excerpts from the works of Brahms, Offenbach, Ravel, Gershwin, Chopin, Rachmaninoff, Faure, and Strauss.

Virginia Morley and Livingston Gearhart have won their fame and praise in four coast-to-coast concert tours, in regular weekly broadcasts as featured artists on Fred Waring's program, and their performances as soloists at such New York night clubs as the St. Regis Roof. The pair recently made their debut on wax with an album of popular music, "Night Life on Two Pianos," done for Columbia.

The Gearharts met while studying abroad in France on scholarships. After appearances in Paris, Lyons, Zurich, Berne, and Brussels, they had to cancel an extensive European tour because of the outbreak of World War II.

The couple have a young son, Paul, and spend their time between concerts at either their west coast home in California or their eastern home in Stroudsburg, Pa.

Dr. Elden Smith Replaces Walsh As Playhouse Head

The third season of the Huron Playhouse, University summer theater on Lake Erie, will find Dr. Elden T. Smith replacing former Professor Frederick G. Walsh as director. Dr. Smith is chairman of the University speech dept. and also director of the University Theater.

Mr. Walsh, who originated the plan for the playhouse and directed the summer activity for two seasons, resigned from the faculty several months ago. He started work last week on a doctorate in dramatics at Western Reserve University.

Courses offered during the coming summer season, which will run from June 11 to Aug. 12, will include dramatic production, acting, directing, stage craft, stage lighting, and advanced dramatic production. Nine credit hours will be given to undergraduates, and six credit hours towards a masters degree.

Plays will run five nights a week at the Huron High School auditorium. Rehearsals, classes, and production arrangements take up the remaining time. Dr. Smith will direct the performances assisted by F. Lee Miesle and John Hepler, members of the speech dept. staff.

The seven plays to be presented to the public will be taken from a list including "Dear Ruth," "Romeo and Juliet," "Years Ago," "Double Door," "Papa Is All," "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Springtime for Henry," "George Washington Slept Here," and "Ladies In Retirement."

Bowling Green students interested should contact Dr. Smith in Gate Theater before May 1 to get an application blank since the session is limited to 30 students. Students from other colleges and universities will be enrolled. Last summer there were students from Southern Methodist, Northwestern, Ohio Wesleyan, and Denison.

Dr. Smith is a graduate of Elyria High School and Ohio Wesleyan and Western Reserve universities. He was a producer, director, and manager of commercial marionette shows before joining the University faculty in 1940.

At Western Reserve he had a Rockefeller Foundation Fellowship granted by the National Theater Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham are to move to Bowling Green next summer.

Miss McClelland is vice president of the Ohio Association of Speech and Hearing Therapists and national treasurer of Sigma Alpha Eta, recognition society in speech correction and hearing.

She joined the Bowling Green faculty in 1946 as an assistant professor of speech and the director of the Speech and Hearing Clinic. For the last year and a half, she has had additional duties as director of the Cerebral Palsy Center.

Director Named To Clinic Posts

A. Bruce Graham, who received his B.A. from Colorado State College and M.A. from the University of Denver, has been named to succeed Miss Adeline McClelland as director of the Speech and Hearing Clinic and the Cerebral Palsy Center here.

Miss McClelland resigned after being married to Dale Schmidlin, Genoa, O., manufacturer.

The new director is presently completing work on his doctorate in speech correction at Northwestern University. He was an enlisted man in the Air Corps during World War II, a high school teacher at Coolidge, Kan., and the principal of Schofield High School at Oahu, Territory of Hawaii.

FAR CRY FROM the classroom, isn't it? Pictured above is the entire cast of the third annual Faculty Show, "Channel No. 5." Most obvious, of course, are the petticoats worn in the Charleston number. Do you recognize any of your past or present taskmasters under all the makeup and costumes?

"Channel No. 5," third annual faculty show, had its initial performance last night in the Main Aud. at 8:30 p.m. The show will be presented there for the next two nights.

This variety show, featuring 15 acts and an all-cast finale, brings to the footlights many talented faculty members. Each act consists of a different cast, with a specialty dance by Howard Kane and Margaret Miller.

Music for the show was written by Lynn Hutchison and Jim Limbacher, with Bob Hubach and Betty Troeger sharing honors; Charles Lakofsky will be at the organ. Mary Lou Everly will appear at frequent intervals in the chorus, and Richard Box takes part in five of the skits.

Proceeds from the show will help furnish a faculty room for Johnston Hospital.

Senate Says Krupa's Band May Play For U-A Prom

MARION HAMPTON

Wally Jones announced to Senate Monday night that he would attempt to obtain Gene Krupa for the U-A Prom.

This action was planned after a straw vote was taken to get Senate's opinion on Krupa, Claude Thornhill, and Charlie Spivak.

Plans to get Jimmy Dorsey were scrapped in view of Dorsey's price being $200 higher than Krupa's $1300.

Lack of a quorum prevented Senate from carrying on any other business.

Application blanks for membership to the Charity Drive Committee and the Election Rules Committee are available in Dr. Prout's office. Two freshmen, a boy and a girl, are wanted for the Charity Drive Committee.

A senior is wanted to replace Fred Jeske, February graduate, on the Election Rules Committee. Applications will be reviewed and nominees announced Monday.

Splashers Tie For First Place In Purdue Meet

The BG women's swimming team, the Splashers, made their best showing of the year recently in a 4-team meet held at Purdue University.

The mermaids ended in a 3-way tie for first with both Purdue entries, as all three teams scored 28 points. Ball State was the third school represented and was held scoreless.

Dorothy McLean annexed a first in the 40-yard freestyle and the BG relay quartet also picked up first place points. Swimming on the relay team were Colette Williams, Patricia Wallace, Joan Wickes, and Miss McLean.

Sallie Buck took a second in the 40-yard backstroke and Miss Wickes picked up seconds in the 40-yard and 100-yard breaststroke races. BG's Medley Relay team of Miss Buck, Miss Wickes, and Miss McLean took a second in a close race.

Third place was the best the Falconettes could do in the other three races. Purdue's Carol Pence, an Olympic swimmer broke two pool records during the meet.

The Women's Basketball Tournament is continuing until the end of February. All captains should check their schedules for games.

Class teams are also continuing at 5 p.m. The third round begins on Monday, Feb. 12.

All committee chairmen are to attend a meeting Monday, Feb. 12, at 6:30 p.m. in Room 100 of the Women's Bldg.

Losses To BW, Lawrence Dim Falcons NIT Chances

By BILL GREENHILL

All hopes and possibilities of Bowling Green being invited to the post-season NIT tourney were almost gone after the Falcons dropped two contests last week.

Thursday night BG was dumped by Baldwin-Wallace 76-59 and then fell to Lawrence Tech Saturday, 60-53.

The Falcons face John Carroll here tomorrow night.

It will be the last home game of the year for BG. Although the second TU game is our "home" game it will be played in the Toledo Arena. Saturday night the Falcons are the guests of Ohio University's Bobcats.

Bob Long and Eli Joyce headed the Falcon attack in the B-W game but the accuracy of the Yellow Jackets proved to be too much for the Falcons, who could hit only 25 of 91 attempts. BG was also weak at the free throw line, hitting only 9 of 20 while B-W's marksmen were dropping in 22 of 37 charity attempts.

Three of B-W's players dropped in 72 of the team's 76 points. Dick Schenk netted 27, Jim Harris 23, and Dick Retherford dropped in 22.

BG's Jim Gerber was held to a meager 11 tallies and one basket was the best Clarence Yackey could do.

Saturday night the Falcons ran into a team that had won all but two games this year including an impressive win over Bradley University's Braves. LaSalle and CCNY are the only teams to hold a victory over Lawrence Tech.

Gerber and Yackey netted 15 and 11 points respectively, but the Tech cagers stayed in front most of the game. BG was behind at the half, 32-27.

Trackmen Work For Huron Race

In preparation for the first annual Huron Relays at Ann Arbor Feb. 17, Bowling Green's indoor track team is diligently working out under Coach Dave Matthews after having participated in the Michigan AAU meet and Michigan State Relays Jan. 27 and Feb. 3.

The Falcons' 1950 Michigan AAU championship 880 relay team of Captain Bill Jordan, Charles Mesloh, Lloyd Perrin, and Bruce Oliver took second this year to Michigan Normal, the team which the Falcons defeated last year for the championship. The mile relay team of Mesloh, Oliver, Jordan, and Kilgore placed third behind Baldwin-Wallace and Loyola of Chicago.

In the individual events Frank Kilgore placed fifth in the 880-yard run while Larry Hall garnered points in the mile with a seventh place. Lee Pate and Marv Croston, Bowling Green's distance specialists, paced themselves to seventh and ninth places respectively in the 2-mile run.

At East Lansing the Falcons encountered similar competition while taking third to DePaul and Michigan Normal in the College mile relay. Mesloh, Kilgore, Hall, and Lee Pate combined efforts to place seventh in the distance medley relay as Lee Pate, Bowling Green's only entrant in the 2-mile run, finished tenth.

Other indoor track dates being eyed are the Cleveland Knights of Columbus meet March 9, and the colorful Purdue relays March 3, both of which have become annual affairs for the Falcons.

Falcons Bounce Back From MSC Loss; Invade Western Ontario Tomorrow

By ERNEST JACKSON

Bowling Green's ever strengthening swimming squad, undaunted by defeats at the hands of nationally famed Michigan State and Iowa State, sprung back Saturday to hand a much diluted Cincinnati aggregation one of the worst defeats ever suffered by a visiting squad at Bowling Green, 58-16. The Falcons bowed to the Spartans of Michigan State 54-30 while being edged out of a possible tie with Iowa's Panthers 38-46 at East Lansing, Jan. 27.

The Coopermen will invade hitherto unexplored grounds tomorrow when they journey to London, Canada for their first international meet with mystery-shrouded Western Ontario, a team about which not even little is known. This is the first time the Canadian team has appeared on the Falcon swim schedule.

In high spirit after whitewashing a never threatening Ohio University group 60-15 on Jan. 23, the Falcons maneuvered to East Lansing for their double dual clash with imposing Michigan State and Iowa State in what turned out to be the roughest meet of the year for Bowling Green.

Unlike the Bobcats of Ohio U., Michigan State, a team which had just handed Michigan University the second defeat in 27 meets with the Wolverines, allowed the Falcons but one first place. The Falcons treated Ohio University in a similar manner just four days before by taking every first place.

Harry Shearer, in defeating Iowa's nationally famous Bobby Brown in the 100-yard freestyle lowered his old varsity record, 53.5, to 53.4 for the Falcon's only new mark in both meets. Shearer, a junior from Euclid, also swam on the 300-yd. medley and 400-yd. freestyle relays, which took second.

In the Michigan meet, the Falcon tankers managed to hold the score down by taking several second and third places, Dell Ewing and Mason Feisel uniting for second and third in the diving, Harry Shearer and Chuck Woodfill, 100-yd. freestyle, John Bruce and Ed Lihan, 200-yd. breaststroke. Woodfill, Shearer, Clark, and Augie Brown teamed up in the 400-yd. freestyle for the only first against the Spartans.

The closest of the two televised meets probably was the Bowling Green-Iowa contest which saw the Falcons trailing 34-38 going into the final 400-yd. freestyle relay, a victory which would have given Bowling Green a tie. In their meet last year the Falcons failed to take a single first place. Dell Ewing's fancy diving ranked first along with John Bruce in the 200-yd. breaststroke.

Saturday's victory over Cincinnati was the second in five encounters with the Queen City squad. Last year, Bowling Green dunked the Bearcats 44-31 in the local Natatorium. Prior to their defeat at the hands of the Falcons, Cincy had defeated University of Kentucky and lost to Indiana.

Coach Cooper predicts the team will be even stronger this semester due to the addition of Don Kepler, freshman 50 and 100-yd. freestyle record holder. Diver Mason Feisel graduated.

In his initial start with the varsity, Kepler swam on the record-breaking 300-yd. medley relay team which tied Michigan State's pool record, ':02.', while lowering the older varsity record, 3:02.5, set by Koenig, Bruce, and Shearer against DePaul earlier this year. He edged out Chuck Woodfill in the 100-yd. freestyle for his first varsity victory with a 54.1 clocking.

The Falcons' next home meet will be Saturday, Feb. 17, when they will be host to Michigan University. It will be the first time in the history of the university that any Big Ten team has invaded the BG campus.

Tea Opens Art Exhibit Sunday

The Fourth Annual Faculty Art Exhibition will open Sunday, Feb. 18, with a Preview Tea in the Gallery of the Fine Arts Bldg.

Faculty members, townspeople, and students interested in art are invited to attend. Wives of faculty members will serve tea from 2 until 5.

Continuing from Feb. 18 through March 2, the exhibition will include oil and watercolor paintings, drawings, prints, sculpture, and ceramics.

Faculty members whose work will be exhibited include: Robert Bone, Charles Lakofsky, Otto Oevirk, Karl Richards, Robert Stinson, Willard Wankelman, Anthony Wauro, Marietta Wigg, and Philip Wigg.

Work On Second Oratorio Started By Choral Groups

Preparation for Verdi's "Requiem," a musical oratorio written by one of the greatest composers of the nineteenth century, began this week under the direction of Dr. James Paul Kennedy.

The choral work, which will be presented in the Men's Gym on March 18 by the combined choral groups and interested students, accompanied by the University Orchestra and professional soloists, will comprise the second largest oratorio to be presented at this University outside of the Messiah. "Elijah," which was presented last year, was the first oratorio of this type.

Professional soloists chosen for the oratorio are: Grace Hoffman of New York City; Rose S. DerDerian of Detroit; Philip MacGregor of Akron; and Bruce Tolbert, faculty member in the music dept.

FAR CRY FROM the classroom, isn't it? Pictured above is the entire cast of the third annual Faculty Show, "Channel No. 5." Most obvious, of course, are the petticoats worn in the Charleston number. Do you recognize any of your past or present taskmasters under all the makeup and costumes?

"Channel No. 5," third annual faculty show, had its initial performance last night in the Main Aud. at 8:30 p.m. The show will be presented there for the next two nights.

This variety show, featuring 15 acts and an all-cast finale, brings to the footlights many talented faculty members. Each act consists of a different cast, with a specialty dance by Howard Kane and Margaret Miller.

Music for the show was written by Lynn Hutchison and Jim Limbacher, with Bob Hubach and Betty Troeger sharing honors; Charles Lakofsky will be at the organ. Mary Lou Everly will appear at frequent intervals in the chorus, and Richard Box takes part in five of the skits.

Proceeds from the show will help furnish a faculty room for Johnston Hospital.

Senate Says Krupa's Band May Play For U-A Prom

MARION HAMPTON

Wally Jones announced to Senate Monday night that he would attempt to obtain Gene Krupa for the U-A Prom.

This action was planned after a straw vote was taken to get Senate's opinion on Krupa, Claude Thornhill, and Charlie Spivak.

Plans to get Jimmy Dorsey were scrapped in view of Dorsey's price being $200 higher than Krupa's $1300.

Lack of a quorum prevented Senate from carrying on any other business.

Application blanks for membership to the Charity Drive Committee and the Election Rules Committee are available in Dr. Prout's office. Two freshmen, a boy and a girl, are wanted for the Charity Drive Committee.

A senior is wanted to replace Fred Jesko, February graduate, on the Election Rules Committee. Applications will be reviewed and nominees announced Monday.

Cap And Gown Awards Tuition Payment

Cap-and Gown, senior women's honorary society, has awarded tuition to a nursery school child for one year's attendance at the Laboratory School.

The award, in honor of Miss

Nellie Ogle, who is a deceased adviser of the honorary, will begin this semester and continue through the next semester.

Money was earned for this year's award by the sale of mums.

Area Children To See 'Wizard Of Oz'

By LORIS WOOD

Thrills of the living theater are in store for the school children of the Northwest Ohio area as Bowling Green's speech dept. prepares to present the fantasy, "Wizard Of Oz."

Reactions of the children to the living theater is one of the outstanding aspects of the presentation of plays to the grade school children, cited Robert Richey, director of the play.

Last year the children greeted "Hansel and Gretel" with much enthusiasm and their expressions of delight, fear, and excitement in reaction to the play, truly registered their enjoyment of the legitimate stage.

This year's production of the "Wizard Of Oz" offers just as much excitement and thrills for the children and maybe adults, too! Such colorful characters as the Cowardly Lion, Tin Woodsman, Scarecrow, Evil Witch, and Oz will be brought to life again for a brief while by the student players.

Big eyes of wonder will no doubt open at the feats of magic, the disappearances and appearances of Oz and Dorothy's life-size dog.

Munchkins will dance and jump about as only the wildest imagination of a child could vision. The Evil Witch will stalk about and the children will even see the Witch's kitchen where she bubbles her ominous brew.

In the production of this fantasy there are many technical problems arising, one of the biggest of which is the melting of the Evil Witch after hot water is thrown upon her. Working in the magic and the appearances of Oz are also part of the problems confronting Stan Morris, graduate student of speech, who is the technical director for the play. Stage manager is Robert Taylor.

Costuming also has its unique problems such as those for the Tin Woodsman, Scarecrow, and the Cowardly Lion. In charge of this department is Margaret Chandler. Assistant director to Mr. Richey is Jim Rudes.

This production, which is expected to reach approximately 2,000 school children, includes five scenes with incidental music and dancing.

First public performance will be given Feb. 24 in the Main Aud. for area children. The downstairs of the auditorium will be reserved for them. However, any persons on campus wishing to see it may sit in the balcony. This will be the only performance that University faculty and students may attend.

Oz is also scheduled to play in Marion on March 3 for the school children there.

Music Group Makes Debut

The Bowling Green State University String Orchestra will make its debut in a concert Feb. 25, in the PA Aud. Gerald McLaughlin, conductor of the University Symphony, is also conductor of the new organization.

The personnel of the group is comprised of members of the string section of the University Symphony. Several woodwind players and one trumpeter from the larger organization will assist in the presentation of three of the numbers listed on the program. Almost the entire program will be "firsts" for Bowling Green music lovers.

The event will mark an innovation in musical organizations and concerts on the campus. The concert is open to the public, and admission is free.

Choir . . .

were to proceed to Bradenton, Fla. At Tallahassee, Dr. Kennedy realized that the choir would not meet its Bradenton engagement, so he chartered a plane for himself and two sopranos, Janice Fuller and Barbara Evans, who with the members in cars could make a complete small choir.

During the intermission the remaining choir arrived and the complete group gave its first concert together since the Wednesday night concert at Dayton.

Four days later the group took time out for a swim at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. They had traveled from one extreme of weather to another.

By a strange quirk of fate the Falcon bus, which had been sent back to Bowling Green for repairs, arrived at Bradenton, but eight hours later. It carried the choir, barring a few minor breakdowns, for the remainder of the tour.

Dr. Kennedy said the morale of the group was splendid and that they managed to keep a sense of humor throughout the whole trip.

Faculty Congratulated . . .

Last night those who attended the faculty presentation of "Channel No. 5" were made aware of, perhaps for the first time, the fact that this University is blessed with faculty members who aren't afraid to admit that they are human, with that human flair for the dramatic.

Professors, instructors, secretaries, and wives all worked equally hard and equally seriously to present as close as was possible with their limitations a higher type of comedy and entertainment than is usually the case when the faculty of any institution strut their hour upon the stage.

The members of the University faculty who participated in any way in the production and presentation of "Channel No. 5" should be highly commended—not for the success of their efforts, as we are not the judge of that—but for the spirit and humaneness they displayed in the process.

It is this human trait which so many students have failed to detect and/or appreciate. Profs aren't just mechanical men or women with grade pencils and recorded lectures; they too have their ambitions and fears and peevish likes.

Faculty who contributed in any way to this third annual show must have an extra bit of another quality somewhat lacking in today's world—thoughtfulness. It cannot be emphasized too strongly that any money left from the collections after paying production costs goes into a fund to provide the facilities for a faculty hospital room in Johnston Hall. Such a purpose, even without combination with entertainment, is well worthy of any contribution.

McFall Sketches Bee Gee's History

By DON HAMMERSTROM

Gaining and developing technical efficiency, personal culture, and furthering social wisdom were the three objectives set forth by the founders of the University, according to Kenneth H. McFall, liberal arts dean, in his address to the first meeting of the Student Senate this semester.

Dean McFall sketched the historical and physical development of Bowling Green from its inception in 1914, on a $10 plot of ground to the present campus.

The student body has grown from a scant 304, to last semester's enrollment of 4,235.

Bowling Green's faculty in 1914 consisted of 14 members including Dr. Res McCain, present chairman of the English dept., and Dr. J. Robert Overman, Dean Emeritus. The faculty now numbers 253.

Dean McFall pointed out that a building program was started in 1914, with the construction of the Administration Bldg., Williams Hall, and Science Bldg. Buildings, which cost approximately five million dollars, now have an estimated value of from 10 to 11 million dollars.

In 1927, the Library and Men's Gym were built, followed in 1931 by the erection of the Practical Arts Bldg. The auditorium was enlarged in 1937, and the Stadium was also built that year.

In recent years the men's and women's dormitories were built along with Johnston Hospital, Gate Theater, Fine Arts Bldg., the Chapel, Heating Plant, and the Chemistry Bldg. which will be dedicated in April.

At present the student body represents 74 out of 88 Ohio counties, 30 states, and 14 foreign countries.

Official Announcement

There will be a meeting of all men interested in joining Sigma Delta Psi, the national honorary athletic society, in 103 Men's Gym on Tuesday, Feb. 19, at 5:30 p.m.

Information may be obtained by consulting Dave Matthews or Ennis Walker in the Men's Gym. Information may also be obtained by reading the Intramural Handbook or by reading the Sigma Delta Psi bulletin board in the Men's Gym.

Social Sub-Committee announced there will be dancing and recreational games in the Rec Hall from 2 to 5 Sunday afternoon.

Businessman Sees Threat To Nation's Economic Freedom

America is in danger of losing her economic freedom—and thereby her political freedom — unless popular misconceptions about the fundamentals of business are clarified, C. A. Jackson told Business Administration students last Tuesday.

Mr. Jackson, assistant comptroller of the Ohio Oil Company, Findlay, declared that many erroneous opinions about business can be proved false by reading the annual reports of American corporations.

The uninitiated look upon the earnings of corporations as the share allocated to the stockholders, who in fact get only such amounts as are declared in dividends, the speaker said. "A large part of such profits are retained in the business for expansion," stated Mr. Jackson.

Retained earnings have provided a major part of the funds for the great expansion of American industry since the close of World War II, Mr. Jackson emphasized.

Despite the huge volume of earnings retained by American business for expansion and replacement, Mr. Jackson noted that it had been necessary to seek additional outside capital.

Mr. Jackson went on to contrast the compelling impact of business competition in America with the cartel system of Great Britain and Germany.

"Many people mistakenly believe that bigness is synonymous with monopoly," he said. "Bigness is essential for the most efficient operation in many fields, he continued, and bigness is the result of efficient service to the public."

Meeting Postponed

Because of the Faculty Show this week end the Faculty Couples Bridge has been postponed to Friday, Feb. 23, at 8. The meeting will be held in the

Much To Do About Nothing

By JOHN RADABAUGH

The belted basketball team returned to Bee Gee this week and from all aspects the final outcome of the season seems completely dismal.

A question which seems to be most apparent on some of the students' minds is, has the bubble which has made Bee Gee a national power on the courts finally broken?

This corner's guess is that in order to maintain in any semblance of our old prestige we will have to have a sparkling finish to the season. At present though someone had better find a way to prime the pump that is needed to fill the team's deflated ego. And from all obvious results the needed boost does not come enclosed in glass.

The A Cappella Choir arrived home this week also, after having a very successful trip. One of the humorous anecdotes that happened on the trip occurred in Bowling Green, Ky.

The group while waiting for a train gave an impromptu concert to pick up a greenback or two. During the course of the vocalizing the choir was approached by a person definitely not a member of the WCTU who offered them $10 if they would sing Swanee River, a song which they had never sung.

When the weaving spectator left, the choir was a ten spot to the good.

As this issue goes to press normally has returned to the campus sidewalks, they are covered with snow. Here is hoping that the University's walks aren't allowed to become a glorified ice pond, to again plague the movements of the student body.

A fact recently brought to light is when this institution was first established there was some question whether to make it an insane asylum or a normal school.

Who said camouflage can't be effective?

The drooping enrollment figure may be supplemented in the near future by the arrival of some Air Corp men. These fellows will be strictly the clipped-winged variety. Their purpose for being here will be to attend classes in clerical work.

The salestalk of the AAF for this University in the months ahead may be, "Enlist now and stay in school."

With the start of a new semester the most asked question of a student carrying an armload of books is, "Selling or studying?"

After hearing some of the different point averages the answer probably sometimes is, "No, buying them back!"

Student Senate started off the second semester in a rather crippled fashion last Monday night when for about half the time they were apparently without a quorum, causing the group to close the session before all the business had been covered.

It was discovered after the meeting that due to one less member on Senate, caused by Lou Daigneau's graduation, there was actually a quorum at all times.

In spite of the fact that Senate could have technically conducted business something should be done to guarantee as near complete attendance as possible in the future. Certainly if the governing body is to gain and keep the respect of all parts of the University excessive absences cannot be tolerated.

The greatest projects ever proposed are worth exactly nothing if they cannot be carried out. To new Senate Pres. Marian Hampton this columnist would like to suggest that she follow a rigid policy of replacing members if they don't attend meetings.

WRA Presents Old Fashioned Indoor Carnival

Wrestling matches, floor shows, a magician's act, and round and square dancing are among the featured side shows of the indoor carnival sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association Saturday, Feb. 24.

In addition there are skill testing concessions such as miniature golf, ball tossing, shooting, bowling, and the fish pond. The fun house, fortune telling, and food concessions will also be found along the midway.

The carnival opens at 8 p.m. and lasts until 12 a.m. During the evening several door prizes will be awarded. These prizes are on display in the Well where tickets may also be purchased from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. every day during the school week. Tickets are also on sale in the main hall of the Women's Bldg. during these same hours. Admission is free.

Carlisle Will Play For ROTC Ball

Cadets and their dates will dance to the music of Russ Carlisle and his orchestra at the ROTC's Third Annual Military Ball.

The dance will be held in the Men's Gym on April 6 from 9 until 12 p.m. At mid-night the "Sweetheart of ROTC" will be presented with her title, crown, bouquet, and a gift by Col. William C. Lucas.

Only those women who accompany cadets the evening of the dance will be eligible as candidates for "Sweetheart." Photographs of prospective queens must be not less than 8 x 11 inches and submitted not later than March 14. All photographs will be eliminated in the contest except five. Choice and elimination of photos will be by vote of all military science classes. From the five finalists, the winner will be chosen.

From The Docket . . .

Bob Long was declared guilty on two charges Wednesday in Student Court and was fined a total of $3. Both offenses were violations of parking in assigned areas.

Weekend Has Many Activities

Lenten Retreat Starts Today

Dr. James O'Toole, Ph.D., S.T.D., J.C.D., former professor of philosophy at DeSales College, Toledo, O., will conduct the sixth annual Newman Club retreat. Dr. O'Toole, an authority in the Catholic Action movement is, at present, pastor of Our Lady of Lords Church at Genoa, O. The theme of this 3-day spiritual recollection will be "Your Personality."

This program, one of the most important activities of the Newman Club year, will start this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock in St. Aloysius Parish Hall, 148 South Enterprise.

Highlighting the retreat will be the Mass and Communion breakfast held at 9 o'clock both Saturday and Sunday. The services will close with a Holy Hour at 2:30 in the church. Both Catholics and non-Catholics are invited to attend this Lenten retreat.

This event is under the direction of the Lay Apostle Committee in charge of Jo Binns, while the breakfasts are managed by Dick Cogan.

Headlining this week end's doings is "Channel No. 5," the faculty musical revue, which started last night and is being presented tonight and Saturday in the Main Aud. at 8:15 p.m.

This third annual faculty presentation includes the largest cast and orchestra yet. It is a satirical musical revue encompassing an array of talent from sambas and rumbas to the charleston, tap, and ballet and even a touch of sentiment in a heartwarming scene.

It is a breezy, sophisticated comedy which was co-ordinated by Dr. R. Lynn Hutchison and James Limbacher. Four authors of the show are: Dr. Howard H. Kane, Miss Paula M. Nyyssonen, Dr. Hutchison, and James Limbacher. Contributions of seven faculty composers make up the musical score and the cast includes 60 faculty members.

A free-will offering will be taken and the proceeds will go toward the faculty room in Johnston Hospital.

All-campus dance event for Saturday night is sponsored by the Varsity Club. According to plans Apache costumes are to be worn. These include "T" shirts and split skirts for the girls and for the fellows striped "T" shirts and dark pants. For this dance, which is to have a French Fisherman setting, the okay was given for the girls to ask the fellows or vice-versa. The dance will be in the Women's Gym from 9 to 12 p.m.

Friday night the Russian dialog film, "The Stone Flower," will be shown in the Gate Theater at 7 and 9.

Saturday "Dark Command" will be shown in Gate Theater at 7 and 9 p.m.

Activities follow right on through for Sunday with Phi Sigma Mu's Music Appreciation Hour to be held in Studio B at 3 p.m.

Recreation hour will be in the Rec Hall from 2 to 5 p.m. and there will be games and dancing.

Local APHO Awarded Plaque

Bowling Green's chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, was awarded a plaque for exceptional work at the recent national convention.

The fraternity, which has 233 chapters, gave 50 such awards in recognition of outstanding service, good organization, and founding of other chapters.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 12...THE MOURNING DOVE

"Some of them are pretty sad!"

Melancholy and dejected, this gloomy miss found little to titillate her in the recent deluge of quick-trick cigarette tests! She was not enthralled by the idea of judging cigarette mildness with just a fast puff or a single sniff. But, joy of joys! . . . happiness came to her when she discovered one test that left no doubt in her mind.

It was the sensible test! . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke — on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels — and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T.Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) we believe you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Beck Paces Romp Over Blue Streaks

Sidelines

By JIM DUEK

IN A LETTER DIRECTED at an article in this column in a previous issue of the Bee Gee News, a Waterloo basketball fan politely says I was full of baloney when I implied that Waterloo's basketball team was not doing too well, and that Leo Kubiak quit the Hawks because of dissatisfaction over the Charley Share deal.

This writer admits being wrong about the size of Waterloo, which the fan informed me was 85,000 strong. In the previous column, I had described Waterloo as "a small cage-sized midwestern town."

The fan, whose letter appears on this page, also sent some clippings from the Waterloo Daily Courier from which I quote: "There are two main points in the Share deal: (1) Waterloo could not afford to pass up one of the highest figures ever paid for a pro basketball player when the Waterloo club has BEEN FALLING SOMETHING LIKE 300 TO 400 FANS SHORT OF BLACK INK IN EVERY GAME; and (2) Share has not been the success here that he was expected to be."

THAT DOESN'T SOUND like the Waterloo club has been very "prosperous." Perhaps since the Share deal, from which they cleared a net $28,500, things have changed. But we doubt very much whether the crowds have increased since Share was traded to Ft. Wayne.

And we'll stick to our statement about Kubiak, because Al Ney, Courier sports editor, remarked in his column: "Kubiak asked for and got his release the night before he was to be released to make room for Buckshot O'Brien." We'll grant Ney that O'Brien, a former Butler star, is a good ball player, but we do know Kubiak was a great star for Waterloo until the middle of this year. Last year, he was terrific.

NEY, IN HIS COLUMN, also makes this concession. "Share was supposed to be a big drawing card for Waterloo and the NPBL. He simply has not been. THERE IS ONE DRAWING CARD IN PRO BALL TODAY—GEORGE MIKAN."

He also says, "Charlie should come along with Ft. Wayne, but Ft. Wayne is in a better position to afford to bring him along slowly than Waterloo." (Share, however, will not be eligible for the Pistons until next year, due to a decision made by Maurice Podoloff, NBA president.)

Yes, it sounds like contradiction between a sports editor and a fan, even though Ney criticized my article in his column. At least from this point of view, things still don't look "prosperous" for Waterloo's Hawks.

Duerk Meets His Waterloo

To Jim Duerk, sports editor: You people in Bowling Green seem badly confused.

First of all, you say things aren't at all well here in Waterloo. Obviously you haven't been to Waterloo lately and haven't any reliable means of communicating with it. As Al Ney says, here in a sideline which was printed in our Waterloo paper last week, things are coming along very well with us. Our town is prosperous and happy. Incidentally, our population is 85,000.

Next you seem to know very little about the Share deal and even less about Leo Kubiak's departure from the basketball team here. Al Ney, our sports writer, has told you a little about their reasons for leaving in his answer to your article, but just so you might understand the Charlie Share deal a bit more clearly, I have cut out the columns from our Courier sports page that dealt with that matter at the time Share was released and am enclosing them.

Read them carefully, Mr. Duerk, and try to find out what you're talking about before you start passing any more words along.

Akron Star Gets 22 In Second Half Bob Long, Eli Joyce In Home Finale

Bowling Green's Falcons played methodical basketball Wednesday night to outclass the Blue Streaks of John Carroll University, 72-49. The victory closed the Bee Gee home season and boosted the year's win total to 14 as compared with eight defeats.

George Beck, who saw action only in the second half, led the scoring parade with 22 points. Jim Gerber was runner-up with 17. Hank Schmidt paced the Clevelanders with 13 markers.

Gerber opened the scoring with a basket in the first 10 seconds. John Carroll responded with six points before Acting Coach George Muellich's charges could score again. After the Falcons went ahead 7-6 the lead saw-sawed until, with 10 minutes remaining in the first half the score was knotted at 16 all. From this point BGSU was never in trouble as big Clarence Yackey poured in eight points to provide a 31-23 spread at halftime.

The second half was all George Beck as the Akron junior meshed seven field goals and eight foul shots. Bobby Long and Eli Joyce, the 1950-51 co-captains received a great ovation from the crowd as they left the court in the waning minutes of the game. This was their last home appearance, thus closing out two distinguished careers in Bowling Green basketball annals.

Tomorrow night the cagers journey to Athens, O., seeking their second victory of the campaign from Ohio University. The Falcons edged the Bobcats 74-69 in the opening round of the State Tournament at Kent in December.

Big Ten's Wolverines Swim Here Tomorrow; First Time

Power laden Michigan University's Wolverines will be guest of Bowling Green to guests of Bowling Green tomorrow afternoon for the Falcons' first home encounter with a Big Ten athletic team.

Coach Matt Mann's Wolverines, winner of 16 Western Conference and 13 NCAA titles look particularly strong in the breaststroke, and dives with growing strength in the middle distances and sprints along with a fair backstroke combination. The Wolverines who finished second to Ohio State in the Big Ten last year and fourth in the 1950 NCAA Championships will be spearheaded by Captain Dave Neisch, one of 10 returning lettermen on the squad.

To date the Wolves have lost only one Conference meet, that going to potent Michigan State 29-58 in an earlier meet this year which saw the Spartans take their second victory in twenty-seven starts with the Wolverines. The Spartans defeated the Falcons 54-30 for the second defeat in eight meets this year.

Breastroker, John Davies, 1949 Olympic swimmer who hails from Sydney, Australia, makes that department the strongest on the Wolves' program. The Falcons will be up against a veteran squad of sprinters in Dick Martin, Jim White and Bob Byberg, all of whom are lettermen.

In the backstroke, Bernie Kahn, and Dick Howell, are the only experienced swimmers available. However, divers Jim Hartman, Frankie Keller, and Jack Hosbein are a trio of seniors, supplemented by John Hanrahan, who will bear watching.

The Falcons who returned last night from their trip to Western Ontario will be out to lower several pool and varsity marks against the Spartans. Coach Cooper who has revised his squad somewhat, due to the graduation of diver Mason Feisel and the addition to the varsity of Don Kepler, 100-yard freestyler and relay man. The well balanced Falcon squad will put much of its hopes on the performances of freestyler Harry Shearer, divers Dell Ewing and Ed Lihan, along with the efforts of Chuck Woodfill and John Bruce.

Students planning to attend the swimming meet with the University of Michigan this Saturday afternoon must obtain reserved seat tickets in the Ticket Office in Men's Gym. TU Wrestlers Pin BG Grapplers 21-9

Three forfeits and a pin by team captain Harry Lanzi was all that Toledo University's wrestling team needed to defeat the grapplers of Bowling Green at TU Wednesday.

The Falcons were forced to forfeit three matches in the lighter weight divisions because the men could not weigh in at the proper weight.

The pin was sustained by Tiny Hursh in the heavyweight division. Hursh was defeated by Lanzi, national YMCA champ in 4:53.

Bob Rehark defeated TU's Earl Courtwright for the latter's first loss of the year. In the peppiest fight of the night Ray Florian took a decision from Floyd Gadt of Toledo. The other three tallies for BG came on Jim Rea's decision over Don Krell.

Coach Anthony Bonito's charges now have a 3-3 record. It was the sixth win in seven starts for the Rockets.
